

TAKE a SEAT

THE FITZROY

RESTAURATEUR

ANTHONY DEBRECENY

is earning a reputation for his design sensibility as much as his stellar cuisine. His newest venture is The Fitzroy, situated in an 1853 Greek Revival building on Drayton Street, just south of Bay Street. Debreceeny tapped interior designer Amber Scott, who recently moved to Savannah from Chicago, to collaborate on the restaurant's design and color story—a palette featuring rich blues and warm metallic tones. “The second I walked in, I knew the space should feel dark and chic,” says Scott. The deep navy walls (Railings by Farrow & Ball) create an alluring canvas for the Ralph Lauren sconces, while the marble tabletops add a hint of cosmopolitan cool. Yet the real stars of the show are the banquettes upholstered in a dreamy turquoise leather, creating an effect that's at once striking and calming. “My wife's favorite color is Tiffany blue,” says Debreceeny. “This is the closest we could get.”

Custom banquette by Ideal Sofa, marble tabletops by MultiStone, West Elm chairs, Ralph Lauren sconces, Farrow & Ball paint is earning a reputation for his design sensibility as much as his stellar cuisine. His newest venture is The Fitzroy, situated in an 1853 Greek Revival building on Drayton Street, just south of Bay Street. Debreceeny tapped interior designer Amber Scott, who recently moved to Savannah from Chicago, to collaborate on the restaurant's design and color story—a palette featuring rich blues and warm metallic tones. “The second I walked in, I knew the space should feel dark and chic,” says Scott. The deep navy walls (Railings by Farrow & Ball) create an alluring canvas for the Ralph Lauren sconces, while the marble tabletops add a hint of cosmopolitan cool. Yet the real stars of the show are the banquettes upholstered in a dreamy turquoise leather, creating an effect that's at once striking and calming. “My wife's favorite color is Tiffany blue,” says Debreceeny. “This is the closest we could get.”

RESTAURATEUR

ANTHONY DEBRECENY

Custom banquette by Ideal Sofa, marble tabletops by MultiStone, West Elm chairs, Ralph Lauren sconces, Farrow & Ball paint

